

Information on Remote Invigilated Exams

Remote exams are remotely monitored exams that you can take at any time and from anywhere. Once you have registered, you will receive the access data and a link to the examination app, which you download onto your computer. The exam is then taken via the app. You have the option of watching a test tutorial before the exam to familiarise yourself with the exam process.

What technical requirements are needed?

Laptop / computer with 4GB of ram (no chrome books, tablets or surface pro)

Windows v7.0+ or Mac10.8+ operating systems

Intel Core i3 (or equivalent) and 4GB RAM

A working webcam that can be used to scan the room, microphone and speakers

Internet connectivity with continuous internet speed of a minimum of 516kbps

Examination regulations for remote examinations

The existing examination rules for the respective examinations remain valid. In addition, the No aids are allowed during the examination, no notes may be taken.

Once the exam starts, you must stay within the camera's field of view; leaving this field of view will result in the immediate termination of the exam.

The supervisor monitors eye movements, head movements, whether someone is speaking or communicating in any other way verbally or non-verbally on his screen.

Communication of any kind with other persons is not permitted.

Wearing smartwatches is not permitted.

Attempting to access other documents or a website will result in the immediate termination of the examination.

The supervisor decides on the termination. The decision is final.